Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5           The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

10           Claims 1-2, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by IBM Technical Disclosure Bulletin, Vol 37, Issue #3, pages 205-206 ("IBM" hereinafter).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

15           The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

20           This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

25           Claims 3-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent #4,450,385 to Ellis ("Ellis" hereinafter) in view of IBM. Ellis, filed in August 1993 discloses a method of determining the status of cassettes in a tape library wherein the presence, or absence of cartridges is noted, in addition to whether the number is unreadable. Ellis doesn't teach procedures for identifying upside down labels. IBM teaches a procedure for dealing with upside down labels, and taking appropriate action. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to include the procedure for determining upside down labels of the IBM disclosure in the Ellis disclosure, because the bar code reader can be "enhanced" to report this information, thus detecting inadvertent placements of the cartridges upside-down. The appropriate "corrective action" suggested by IBM is pretty clearly spelled out in Ellis.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

U. S. Patent #6,246,642 to Gardner, Jr. et al. is cited for showing a cartridge system which detects upside down cartridges based on bar code information.

U. S. Patent #5,323,327 is cited for showing an "on-the-fly cataloging" system.
